

Christian Values linked to British Values

Inspire Learning for Life. Encourage each other and build each other up (1 Thessalonians 5:11)

Our Christian Values underpin the ethos of our school and we believe that they are fully interwoven with British Values. The table below shows how we have aligned both set of values in order to embed them into school life and the curriculum.

More information about how our core values and the British Values are linked can be found on the reverse of this page.

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs

Love encourages kindness, empathy, and care for others—no matter who they are. It reflects a society where people value one another and live in harmony despite differences.

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Tolerance

Compassion involves understanding and kindness, especially towards others who may be different or in need. It reflects the idea of caring for others in a diverse society.

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Individual Liberty

True friendship thrives in a society that values freedom of choice and respectful relationships. It encourages inclusion and support among individuals.

Linked British Value: → Individual Liberty → Mutual Respect

Thankfulness reflects a positive attitude toward freedom, opportunity, and the actions of others. It contributes to a respectful and appreciative society.

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → The Rule of Law

This is a direct link. Respect is central to British Values—respect for others' rights, the law, and the diversity within the country.

Linked British Value: Mutual Respect & Individual Liberty

Generosity involves giving and supporting others freely, which flourishes in a community that values respect and individual freedom.

Hope

Linked British Value: → Individual Liberty → Democracy

Hope is about believing in a better future and having the freedom to dream, set goals, and make choices. It also connects to democracy, where people work together to create positive change.

Trust

Linked British Value: → The Rule of Law → Mutual Respect

Trust is essential in a society where people follow rules and treat one another fairly. It helps build safe, respectful communities and reinforces confidence in laws and institutions.

Service

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Individual Liberty

Serving others reflects care for the community and a willingness to support others freely. It encourages responsibility, kindness, and appreciation for people's contributions.

Perseverance

Linked British Value: → Individual Liberty

Perseverance means having the freedom and determination to keep going despite challenges. It ties into liberty because individuals are encouraged to pursue goals and overcome difficulties.

Joy

Linked British Value: → Individual Liberty → Mutual Respect

Joy can flourish when people are free to be themselves and respect one another's right to happiness, peace, and celebration of life.

Patience

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs

Patience is key in respecting others' viewpoints, beliefs, and ways of life. It helps people get along peacefully and appreciate differences.

Justice

Linked British Value: → The Rule of Law → Democracy

Justice is at the heart of fairness, equality, and accountability. It directly supports the importance of laws, rights, and treating everyone equally within a democratic society.

Peace

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs

Peace reflects living in harmony with others, especially in a diverse society. It's about resolving conflict, respecting others, and creating a calm, fair environment for everyone.

Courage

Linked British Value: → Individual Liberty

Courage involves standing up for what is right and making choices—even when it's difficult. It supports the idea of freedom to express yourself and act according to your values.

Forgiveness

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect → Tolerance

Forgiveness helps people move past mistakes and build stronger relationships. It's about understanding others, letting go of anger, and creating a respectful, inclusive community.

Truthfulness

Linked British Value: → The Rule of Law → Individual Liberty

Being truthful supports fairness and justice. It's important in following laws, building trust, and ensuring that everyone can make informed, honest choices.

Humility

Linked British Value: → Mutual Respect

Humility means recognizing your own strengths and weaknesses, and valuing others. It encourages listening, learning, and showing respect to all people, no matter their status or background.
